Graduates from this year should not have to pay the GE fee, as they have been told that they are now exempt. There is already confusion as graduates have been sent letters from the SLC asking how they would like to pay the GE if it doesn't pass at Parliament - these students had previously been told this was not something they would not have to be concerned about.

In relation to those who are paying off or have paid the GE already, whilst we understand the complications of students being given money back, they are now an anomaly as very few students will have actually met the criteria to be liable for this fee.
