End of Life Assistance (Scotland) Bill

Kathleen M. McKean

I write re my grave concern re the above Bill in that if our society accepts this Bill many many lifes are in danger of being of no value or worth.

As someone with multiple health issues I am already bombarded by those who seem to view anyone with any health issue as being a problem for which an answer has to be found. I am not reassured that the 'answer' will either satisfy me or indeed make for a better society.

The Bill does not hold a 'conscience clause' for medical staff upon whose shoulders the responsibility for providing 'end of life assistance' would fall.
