Dear Sir,

As a resident in an old folk's home, we are so grateful for the care we receive.

I'm concerned about my relative's health. Please do not neglect our health. The hospital is not to be prepared for anything. The usual druggist is not to be trusted.

Please do not hurry our death. Do feel as though we are all going to die. The hospital is not to be trusted. The usual druggist is not to be trusted.

We are so grateful for the care we receive. The hospital is not to be trusted.

End of life: Bill office.

Yours truly,
Margaret Gorrie

23 April 1906