Thomas Mooney

27th April 2010.

Dear Committee Members,

I am very concerned about the implications of the End of Life Assistance Bill proposed by MSP Margo MacDonald.

I think this bill is very dangerous and should be rejected because it will put large numbers of sick and disabled Scottish people at risk.

The safeguards will not work, and vulnerable depressed people will feel they are a burden to society and it is their duty to die.

It is also contrary to the ethics of doctors to save lives.

Yours sincerely,

Thomas Mooney
